ARBITRATION AS A MEANS OF EFFECTIVE REMEDY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AT SEA

HRAS and global law firm Shearman & Sterling LLP have partnered on a project to facilitate the resolution of disputes concerning human rights at sea using international arbitration. The project's chief aim is to provide those living, working, and transiting at sea with an effective remedy for human rights abuses, while also combating impunity for the perpetrators of such abuses. The Webinar honed in on certain key issues raised in the White Paper and subjected them to focused discussion, led by experts from various fields, including the legal, maritime, and banking sectors.

WORLD MENTAL HEALTH DAY

The Covid-19 led -among others to- more than 400,000 seafarers stranded at sea for more than 11 months permitted under international law. The mental health of maritime workers is at risk and their support is more important than ever. The last years there was a dramatic increase of mental health programmes in the maritime world. Covid-19 pandemic brought together the whole maritime industry. The designation of seafarers as key workers is crucial so that they can return to their homes after the end of their contracts. Deprivation of human rights and such prolonged isolation affects their physical and mental welfare.

Who We Are

BACKGROUND

Human Rights at Sea was established in April 2014. It was founded as an initiative to explore issues of maritime human rights development, review associated policies and legislation, and to undertake independent investigation of abuses at sea. It rapidly grew beyond all expectations and for reasons of governance it became a registered charity under the UK Charity Commission in 2015.

Today, the charity is an established, regulated and independent registered non-profit organisation based on the south coast of the United Kingdom. It undertakes Research, Advocacy, Investigation and Lobbying specifically for human rights issues in the maritime environment, including contributing to support for the human element that underpins the global maritime and fishing industries.

The charity works internationally with all individuals, commercial and maritime community organisations that have similar objectives as ourselves, including all the principal maritime welfare organisations.

OUR MISSION

To explicitly raise awareness, implementation and accountability of human rights provisions throughout the maritime environment, especially where they are currently absent, ignored or being abused.
